This is an opportunity to share targeted continuous improvement efforts your EPP is proud of. Focus on one to two major efforts the EPP made and the relationship among data examined, changes, progress with any Transition Plans (initial-licensure level) and/or Phase-in Plans (advanced level), and studying the results of those changes.

For our 2022-2023 Annual Report, we would like to highlight three EPP improvements aligned with standard three. The first improvement is in connection with component R3.2/RA3.3, where we have redesigned our process for monitoring and supporting student progress. For our second improvement, we piloted a new method for collecting the evidence needed to demonstrate student competency at completion R3.3/RA3.4. The third improvement, the creation of a demographic survey that allows for extensive data disaggregation, is also connected to student monitoring (R3.2/RA3.3) and competency at completion (R3.3/RA3.4). We will discuss these in detail in the information that follows and also review the progress on our phase-in plans.

Monitoring and Supporting Student Progress

During the 2022-2023 academic year, program faculty, staff, and leadership collaborated to redevelop the EPP's method for monitoring and supporting student progress (R3.2/RA3.3). Supporting student progress is essential to the EPP's value of academic excellence: The College of Education is committed to rigorous academic standards in an environment that is centered on student support and growth through evidence- and research-based pedagogies. While the EPP had a process in place, it needed to be rethought to ensure the focus was on student support through consistency, oversight, and follow-through.

The previous process was initiated when a teaching or dispositional concern arose with a student. The EPP and school partner stakeholders addressed the concern by developing a support plan and meeting with the student. The process required using one of two forms, depending on the extent of the concern: 1) a Cause for Concern Form and a 2) Professional Development Plan. The purpose of the Cause for Concern Form was to focus a student's attention on areas requiring development, whether it

7.1. [OPTIONAL] Does the EPP have any questions about CAEP Standards, CAEP sufficiency criteria, or the CAEP accreditation process generally?

Though nothing has changed with our program locations since our last CAEP visit, the new system and Accreditation Policies and Procedures manual request that we identify auxiliary locations. We have added those in the AIMS 2.0 this year, but we were unsure if this were a substantive change since it isn't a change for us.
